A Disobedient Soldier.

Now, lads, there's the battery; remember the Emperor himself is watching you, and carry it in true French style. The moment you get it, make yourself fast against attack, and mind that any man who comes out again to pick up the wounded, even though I myself should be among them, shall be tried for disobedience as soon as the battle's over."

So spoke Colonel Lasalle to his French Grenadiers just before the final charge that decided the battle of Wagram. Then he waved his sword and shouted "En avant!"

Forward swept the grenadiers like a torrent, with the shout which the Austrians opposed to them already knew to their cost. Through the blinding smoke and pelting shot they rushed headlong on, with mouth parched, faces burning, and teeth set like a vice. Ever and anon a red flash rent the murky cloud around them, and the cannon shot came tearing through their ranks, mowing them down like grass. But not a man flinched, for the same thought was in every mind, that they were fighting under the eye of the "Little Corporal," as they affectionately called the terrible Napoleon.

Suddenly the smoke parted, and right in front of them appeared the dark muzzles of cannon, and the bright uniforms of Austrian soldiers. One last shout which rose high above all the roar of battle, the bayonets went glittering over the breastwork like the spray of a breaking wave, and the battery was won.

"Where's the Colonel?" cried a voice suddenly.

There was no answer. The handful of men that remained of the doomed band looked meaningly at each other, but no one spoke. Strict disciplinarian as he was; seldom passing a day without punishing some one, the old Colonel had nevertheless won the men's hearts completely by his reckless daring courage in battle; and every man in the regiment would gladly have risked his life to save that of the "old growler," as they called him.

But if he were not with them, where was he? Outside the battery the whole ground was scorged into flying jets of dust by a storm of bullets from the fight that was still raging on the left. In such a crossfire it seemed as if nothing living could escape, and if he had fallen there, there was but little hope for him.

"I see him!" cried a tall grenadier. "He's lying out yonder, and alive, too, for I saw him wave his hand just now. I'll have him here in five minutes, boys, or be left there beside him."

"But you mustn't disobey orders, Dubois," said a young captain (now the oldest surviving officer, so terrible had been the havoc), hoping by this means to stop the reckless man from rushing upon certain death. "Remember what the Colonel to'd you—that even if he were left among the wounded, no one must go out to pick him up."

"I can't help that," answered the soldier laying down his musket and tightening the straps of his cross-belts. "Captain report private Debois for insubordination and breach of discipline. I'm going out to bring in the Colonel."

And he stepped forth unflinchingly into the deadly space beyond.

They saw him approach the spot where the Colonel lay; they saw him bend over the fallen man, shielding him from the shot with his own body. Then he was seen to stagger suddenly, as if from a blow; but the next moment he had the Colonel in his arms and was struggling back over the shot-torn ground, through the dying and the dead. Twice he stopped short, as if unable to go farther: but on he came again, and had just laid his officer gently down inside the battery, when, with his comrades' shout of welcome still ringing in his ears, fell fainting to the earth, covered with blood.

By the next morning Colonel Lasalle had recovered sufficiently to amaze the whole regiment by putting under arrest the man who had saved his life; but the moment it was done, the Colonel mounted his horse, and rode off to headquarters at full gallop. In about an hour he was seen coming back again, side by side with a short, square-built man in a gray coat and cocked hat, at sight of whom the soldiers burst into deafening cheers, for he was no other than the Emperor Napoleon.

"Let me see this fellow," said Napoleon, sternly; and two grenadiers led forward Pierre Dubois, so weak from his wounds that he could hardly stand.

"So, fellow, thou hast dared to disobey orders; ha?" cried the Emperor, in his harshest tones.

"I have, sire. And if it were to be done again, I'd do it."

"And what if we were to shoot thee for insubordination?"

"My life is your majesty's, now, as always," answered the grenadier, boldly. "And if I must choose between dying myself and leaving my Colonel to die, the old regiment can better spare a common fellow like me than a brave officer like him."

A sudden spasm shook the Colonel's iron face as he listened, and even Napoleon's stern gray eyes softened as few men had ever seen them soften yet.

"Thou'rt wrong there," said he, "for I would not give a 'common fellow' of thy sort for twenty Colonels, were every one of them as good as my old Lasalle here. Take this, Sergeant Dubois"—and he fastened his own cross of the Legion of Honor to Pierre's breast. "I warrant me thou'lt be a Colonel thyself one of these days."

And sure enough, five years later, Pierre Dubois was not only a Colonel but a General.

Relic Worship.

The French were behind no other nation in reverence for relics of saints, and for pictures and images representing them. In the partial list, compiled by a cotemporary, of the curiosities of this nature scattered through Christendom, the majority of the relics mentioned are selected from the immense treasures laid up in the thousands of cathedrals, parish churches and abbeys within the domains of the "Very Christian King." In one place the hair of the Blessed Virgin was carefully preserved, in another, the sword of the Archangel Michael, or the entire body of St. Dionysius. It was true that the Pope had, by solemn bull, about a century before, declared in the presence of the French Ambassador, that the entire body of this last-named saint was in the possession of the inhabitants of Ratisbon; but had any one been so rash as to affirm at St. Denis, near Paris, that the veritable remains were not there, he would have certainly been stoned. At Notre Dame de l'Ile, above Lyons, no little account was made of the twelve tombs of the Apostles.

Fourteen nails were exhibited as having been used in the crucifixion of Christ. The crowns of thorns would have required an entire hedge. There were three spears and many napkins instead of one. Each Apostle would seem to have had more than four bodies, and the saints at least two or three apiece. A bone of a deer was worshipped at Geneva as the arm of St. Anthony; a piece of pumice as the brain of St. Peter.

At Aries and elsewhere the very stones that were the instruments of St. Stephen's death were adored. In Paris the knife with which an impious Jew had stabbed a consecrated wafer was held in higher esteem than the wafer itself.—Rise of the Huguenots.

How to Keep Cool.—On going once into the medical Museum in Edinburg, on a Summer's day, we felt chilly, and on looking at the thermometer we found it at 68, while out of doors it was oppressively warm. Sixty-eight degrees in Summer there, is quite cool enough for a sitting apartment; but if you go into a room of that temperature in mid-winter, a feeling of suffocation, of oppressiveness, comes over you. The noon of a day whose morning is 68 will give over 90 in the sun. If on getting up in the morning, every window and door of "a floor" are thrown open and thus remain until about sun up, and are then closed, shutters and all, it will be nearly night before the thermometer is materially raised, and persons coming into our office, often exclaim, "how delightfully cool your office is, how do you manage it." If we close our doors in mid-winter to keep the warmth in, may we not do the same thing in Summer to keep it out.

Lord Dudley was one of the most absent-minded of men. One day, says Sydney Smith, he met me on the street and invited me to meet myself. "Dine with me today; dine with me, and I will get Sydney Smith to meet you." I admitted the temptation held out to me, but said he was to meet me elsewhere. Another time in meeting me he put his arm through mine, muttering, "I don't mind walking with him a little way; I'll walk with him as far as the end of the street." He very nearly overset my gravity once in the pulpit. He was sitting immediately under me, apparently very attentive, when suddenly he took up his stick, as if he had been in the House of Commons, and, tapping the ground with it, cried out in a low but very audible whisper, "Hear, hear."

He had been sitting still so long that the mother expected to find him asleep when she looked around and asked: "Well, Harry, what are you thinking of?" "Ma, are we very rich?" he solemly inquired, by way of reply. "In one way we are," she said; "your father says he values me at $3,000,000 you at $2,000,000, and the baby at $1,000,000." That closed the conversation on the subject, but next morning, as Harry was getting on his overcoat, he examined the new patch that had been added, and coolly observed. "Well, I think father had better sell off about half of you or the whole of baby, and buy the rest of us some decent duds to put on."

"My learned brother," says the court kindly, but significantly, to a young lawyer who is about to sum up his first case, "my learned brother will observe that it is near dinner time, and that brevity is the soul of summing up." "May it please your honor, I will not long detain you. I am right; my learned friend opposite is wrong; you are a good judge." Judgment in his client's favor with costs.

Professor Geiger sat in an easy chair on the deck, looking very pale. The compassionate captain asked how he felt. "Miserable, miserable; I'm sick, captain, I'm sick. I have paid tribute to Neptune till I have lost everything." "But," said the captain, "I see you still have your boots left." "Yes," said the Professor faintly, "but they were on the outside."

No mother wearing banged hair should preserve her photographs. Twenty years from now if her son should get hold of one he would exclaim: "Oh! why did they put my mother in the House of Correction!

Are men who flatter women she-praises?

Swifter Than Telegraph.—Mr. Joseph Cooper, who is now working a towboat line outside of the Towboat Association and who has in consequence no rights and privileges with regard to the telegraph line of the association, has hit upon a novel method of getting his despatches transmitted from his towboat to his office in this city. Last year, when Captain Black was outside the association, that enterprising ship-owner bought several dozen Belgium carrier-pigeons, and was training them for use, when he decided to enter the association. Having no further use for the birds, he did not know what to do with them, until Mr. Cooper came round, made inquiries and bought them. Mr. Cooper constructed a cote back of his office and therein put the pigeons. In a day or two these latter became domesticated in their new quarters. For some time past they have been regularly employed in bringing messages from the towboat at the pass, and Mr. Cooper is delighted with his arrangement. The carrier-pigeon in this service is swifter than the telegraph. For example: When a Cooper towboat takes charge of a vessel, say at a distance off shore, a pigeon is turned loose. The fleet bird circles around a moment, and strikes a bee line for home. The distance straight is about 100 miles, which the pigeon traverses in about one hour and a quarter. Should an association boat meet a vessel so far from land, a despatch cannot be sent until three hours thereafter, i.e., not until the vessel is towed to the telegraph station at Port Eads. As a consequence, the carrier-pigeon line brings a message to this city fully three hours ahead of the telegraph line, and Mr. Cooper rejoices over this success.

A few weeks ago, as a young lady of Salisbury, Md., was getting into a carriage a sewing needle was by some means forced into her thigh, but, being considered a trifling matter, little or no attention was paid to it at the time. Several days after this occurrence, however, her ankle pained her very much, and, on examination, it was found that the needle was the cause of it. In her efforts to get it out it broke, and she only succeeded in getting one part (the eye half) of it out. The point part remaining and two days after she felt that just below the knee, but still unable to get it out. Two weeks then elapsed and she felt something in her throat, but the obstruction was supposed to be a fishbone. After several efforts to remove it she at last succeeded, and it proved to be the point part of the needle.

For some time past, under the direction of the Fire Commissioners, Engineers Charles Willett of Engine 4 and G. W. Stoddard of Engine 7 have been making what will be known as jumping-cloths to be used to catch people jumping from burning buildings. One dozen of the cloths have been made, and they will be at once distributed. The cloths are about ten and one-half feet square, very strongly made of No. 7 Lawrence duck. There are twenty buckets spliced through grummets in the canvas for the men to hold them by, and a wide strip of canvas strongly sewed crosses the cloth from corner to corner. When folded the cloths take up but little space. It is thought that they will supply a want long felt in the department.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

A lady lawyer out West always addresses her husband at breakfast as "My learned brother;" at lunch she calls him "the counsel for the defense;" at dinner time she calls him "a brass mounted pettifogger with a cheek like an army mule."

Mother Shipton's famous prophesy says that the end of the world will take place in 1881. "This," remarks the Albany Journal, "cannot but prove a comforting thought to people who have mortgages to lift in 1882."

Detroit people object to the custom of wearing mourning for deceased friends. Their idea of the proper method of showing grief is to neglect their work and go to circusses to try and get cheered up.

A couple of reporters spent the night in a cell with a man who was doomed to be hanged in Connecticut recently, and in the morning the prisoner was perfectly willing to die.

The mind receives pleasure from the beauty and consistency of what is presented to the imagination, not from that which is incongruous and unnatural.

"Are you a home-ruler?" was asked of one of the candidates at the last election. A voice from the back seats answered, "No, but his wife is."

Stockton's Railway Project.

At a meeting in Stockton, on the 12th inst. to raise subscriptions and devise means for the immediate survey of a route for a narrow-gauge railroad to run from that place by way of the Calaveras Big Trees to the Bodie mines, on the eastern side of the Sierra Nevada, Mr. Davis, who is managing the enterprise, made some statements that will interest the general public. He estimates that a narrow-gauge road can be graded and put in working order for $9000 a mile from Stockton to the Big Trees, which is more than half the distance to Bodie. He said the books of the Central Pacific Company will show that last year 44,000,000 pounds (22,000 tons) of freight was carried from San Francisco and Sacramento by way of Carson Valley to Bodie. The distance is 332 miles. The distance from Stockton to Bodie by rail will not exceed 125 miles. The saving by the Stockton route would be 200 miles, or very nearly 62 per cent; that is, it is 12 per cent less than half the distance by Stockton and Big Trees than by San Francisco, Sacramento and Carson Valley. The estimated quantity of freight that Bodie will require this year is 88,000,000 pounds or 44,000 tons. The wood requirement is 250,000 cords a year; and this is not included in the through tonnage, of course. Davis states that the Virginia and Reno Railway cleard last year $164,000, and the Palisade and Eureka narrow-gauge, less than 90 miles long, made $940,002 in the same time. We accept this statement with many grains of allowance, but if it is only half true, it is very encouraging to the Stockton enterprise. Another advantage of this road over the Central Pacific is that the through trip both ways can easily be made in daylight. The ultimate outlook of the company is connection with the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe road at some point in southern Nevada, though it is not so clear as it might be how a narrow-gauge can connect with a broad-gauge road. This "middle route, once established, Davis claims, will shorten the distance by rail from here to the East 600 miles. He thinks if the Stocktonians will organize, make the survey and place the bonds, 75 miles of the road may be put in running condition by November, 1881. The lowest estimate for the survey is $3500; the highest, $6000. Citizens of San Joaquin have already subscribed $40,000. That is more money than the present owners of the Central Pacific paid out of their own pockets, clear of subsidies, toward the completion of that road. It ought to be enough to give the Stockton-Bodie project a fair start, and enable the company to float its bonds for all the money they may need.—S. F. Chronicle.

The farmers between Reno and Steamboat announce that the grasshoppers are there in immense numbers and are doing great damages. A. C. McFarlin has already lost four acres of alfalfa, and the voracious insects have but commenced work. In places the fields are literally black with them.

His Choice.—General Grant, the Associated Press dispatches say, says that the Chicago Convention should have nominated Conkling for President. Grant was a little "off" when he made that remark. The country will never see Conkling President, nor even Vice President.

The census will probably show Sacramento to have a population of 21,000, San Francisco less than 300,000 and Oakland less than 40,000. We are not as big as we thought we were, are we?

The ex-residents of Nevada county are to have a re-union at Shell Mound Park, near Berkley, on Saturday next, the 26th. Ex Senators Sargent and Stewart have promised to be present.

The Original.—The original Garfield man in the Republican Convention was W. A. M. Grier of Hazleton, Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, one of the delegates from the Eleventh District.

The steamship Arizona made the distance between New York and Queenstown, Ireland, in 7 days, 23 hours and 45 minutes, being the fastest voyage on record.

Two fools named George P. Thomas and Frederick Norman sailed from Gloucester Mass. on Saturday last, in the dory Little Western on a voyage across the ocean.

There were sixty-three deaths in San Francisco last week.

REUNITED.

Our cotemporaries, the Standard and Free Press, are having a little tilt in regard to the organization of the Republican Club, a few evenings since. We dislike to see this squabble among our Republican brethren. We should be united in the impending political conflict, and no personal feeling should be allowed to enter into the contest, but all should work for the common good of the country and the party. It is no time to have squabbles in the family, and this little unpleasantness should not be allowed to go any further to the detriment of the party. Our city is large enough, and we have enough Republicans here to warrant the organization of two or more Republican Clubs. It does not follow that everybody must belong to one Club, or be left out in the cold. We believe that two Clubs can be maintained here if they are properly organized, and organized in a good spirit. There should be no star chamber tactics resorted to, but everything should be done openly and above board, so that there can be no suspicion of unfair doings in any business connected with a Republican Club. We trust our brethren of the press will not let their angry passions get the best of them, but now that the game is made, let us all put in our best endeavors to secure the success of Garfield and Arthur.

The latest Oregon election reports indicate that the political complexion of th Legislature will be as follows: The Senat will stand sixteen Republicans to fourteen Democrats, and House thirty-seven Republicans to twenty-three Democrats, with more than even chances that the Republican party will have seventeen in the Senate and thirty-nine in the House, or a majority on joint ballot of twenty-three. In 1878 the Senate stood: Democrats, eighteen; Republicans, twelve, and the House, thirty-four Democrats and twenty-six Republicans, or on joint ballot, fifty-two Democrats and thirty-eight Republicans.

The Homer Mining Index.—We are in receipt of the first number of the Homer Mining Index, published at Lundy, Mono county, by J. E. Baker and John J. Curry. The Index is a twenty column paper, and is well filled with local news, as well as other matter of a readable and interesting nature. It gives a good account of its district—the Homer Mining District—and will be a great acquisition to its mining interests. The new paper is very neat, and presents a healthy appearance. We sincerely wish it well.

The Gold Hill News says that the grasshoppers have made their appearance in the streets of Virginia City. If people will be so green as to stay on the Comstock they must expect that the grasshoppers will be after them.

NEW TO-DAY.

Co-Partnership Notice.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT MADE AND entered into this the First day of April, A. D. 1880, between David Hitchell, of Bodie, Mono County, State of California, Party of one part; and Sam Chung, of the same place, Party of the other part:

Witnesseth as follows:

The said parties above named have agreed to become Copartners in business and by these presents do agree to become copartners in business together, under and by the name or firm of David Hitchell & Co. in the business of Keeping a Lodging House and such other business as the above mentioned parties may hereafter agree to, and to occupy a house on A street, Homer Township, Mono County, State of California their copartnership to commence on the day and year first above written, and to continue until dissolved either through a course of law or by mutual consent, and to that end and purpose the said David Hitchell and Sam Chung have delivered in as capital stock the sum of One thousand dollars each share and share alike, to be used and employed in common between them for the support and management of the said business and their mutual benefit and advantage. And it is agreed by and between the parties to these presents that at all times during the continuence of their copartnership, they and each of them will give their attendance and do the utmost of their skill and power exert themselfs for their joint interest, profit, benefit and advantage, and truly employ, buy and sell merchandise with their joint stock and the increase thereof, in the business aforesaid, and also shall and will at all times during their copartnership bear, pay and discharge equally between them all rents, and other expenses that may be required for the support and management of the said business, and that all gains, profits and increase that come, grow and arise from or by means of their said business, shall be divided between them, the said copartners share and share alike, and all loss that shall happen to their said joint business by all commodities, bad debts or otherwise, shall be borne and paid equally between them. And it is agreed by and between the said parties that there shall be kept at all times during the continuance of their copartnership, perfect, just and true books of accounts wherein each of the said copartners shall enter and set down as well all moneys by them or either of them received, paid, laid out or expended in and about the said business, as also all the goods, wares, commodities and merchandise by them or either of them bought or sold by reason of or on account of the said business, and all other matters and things whatsoever to the said business and management thereof or in any wise belonging, which, said books shall be used in common between the said copartner so that either of them may have access thereto. And the said parties hereby mutually covenant and agree to and with each other that during the continuance of the said partnership, neither of them shall or will indorse any note or otherwise become surety for any person or persons whomsoever without the consent of the said copartners. And at the end or other sooner determination of their copartnership, the said copartners each to the other shall and will make a true, just and final account of all things relating to their said business, and in all things truly adjust the same, and all and every stock and stocks, as well as the gains and increase thereof which shall appear to be remaining either in money, goods, wares and fixtures, debts or otherwise shall be divided between them, share and share alike.

In witness whereof the said parties to these presents have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year above written.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, JUNE 19, 1880.

The CHRONICLE Office is on the second floor of Wasson's Building, east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green street.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

On Monday last the Board of Supervisors met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, Dick, Chairman; Loose and Witherill.

A map and description of the toll road plied for by B. R. Taylor was received d laid on the table until the 16th inst.

Bids for the erection of a Court House were received from James McVarish, and J. B. Gaddin & James Mathews, the former was $2,490 00 and the latter $25,000. They were laid on the toble until the 16th inst. Adjourned till June 16th.

Met June 16th, present a full Board.

Several petitions having been presented for the appointment of a Justice of the Peace and Constable, it was ordered that J. A. Owen be appointed Justice of the Peace for Homer Township, and C. N. Knox, Constable, both to hold office until the next general election.

James McVarrish came before the Board and asked that he be allowed to correct a clerical error, in his bid for the erection of a Court House, from $2,490 00 to $24,900. It was ordered that he be allowed to correct the said error so as to read $24,900 instead of $2,490 00.

It was ordered that, upon the completion of the East Bodie toll road, a franchise be granted for a term of five years, and the rates of tolls to be as follows:

One pair of horses and wagon	75 cents
Each addition l pair of animals	25 cents
Each buggy	50 cents
Each saddle horse	25 cents
Each pack animal	12½ cts
Empty teams, half rates.

It was ordered that the District Attorney notify all officers to comply with the laws n making their reports.

It was ordered that the old Great Register be and is hereby cancelled.

Adjourned until June 17th.

Met June 17th, present a full Board.

Bills for repairs on Court House were allowed, and Clerk to advertise for proposals to build Court House.

Adjourned to June 25th.

MINING ACCIDENTS.—About 12:30 on Wednesday night a giant powder explosion occurred a tthe 500-level of the Bodie mine. John Holland, Wm. Falvey and James Madder went down on the 11 o'clock shift and found that a charge of giant powder put in previously had not gone off. They went to work to scrape out the drill hole, but found that some rock had fallen in and which could not be removed without breaking it, which they proceeded to do. Holland held the drill and the others striking. They had made but one or two strikes when the charge exploded, and severely injuring the men. Holland being the worst hurt. He had his left arm broken between the shoulder and elbow, and lost two fingers from the left hand. His face was badly cut by the dirt and pieces of rock, which were forced into the skin, but fortunately his eyes were not seriously injured. The others were badly cut about the face, but no bones were broken, and they are doing well. Dr. N. Rogers on Wednesday amputated the hand some three inches above the wrist. The patient is doing as well as can be expected.

As usual, in this district one accident is quickly followed by another—if not by two or three. On Wednesday morning, about 10:30, John Collins, while timbering in the Standard shaft, was injured by the descending cage, which badly bruised him between the shoulders, but he will be all right again in a few days.

INDIAN KILLED.—About 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Henry Martin, of the Bodie ranch, on the Aurora road, and some four miles from Bodie, shot and killed an Indian on his ranch. His story is, that he and some friends were looking at his garden when they saw three Indians crossing his meadow, and not wishing to have the grass trampled down, started toward them to order them off. As he approachsd them one drew a revolver and remarked, "Guess you kill my horse; guess I kill you." Martin immediately raised his gun and fired, killing the Indian instantly. It seems that an Indian pony was left on Martin's ranch last Winter, and it starved to fleath, and the Indians accuse Martin of having killed it. Martin gave himself up and was examined before Justice Newman who ordered his discharge. The Indians have been much excited over the affair, and Martin will have to be very wary if some of the tribe don't get the drop on him. It will not do to fool with an Indian, as they will get even with their enemy—even if they have to wait some time for the opportunity.

SALARY INCREASED.—The Postmaster General has been readjusting the salaries of the Postmasters of the first, second and third class throughout the country, increasing some and reducing others. The salary of Postmaster Putnam of the Bodie office, has been increased to $2800—an increase of $600. This salary is only exceeded by San Francisco, which is $4000, and Sacramento, and Oakland, each $3,000. Excepting Stockton, which is also $2,800, all the other offices in this State are lower than Bodie.

PERSONAL.—Senator Stewart and W. B. Carr arrived here on Monday to look after their mining interests. They have been examining our mines. This is Mr. Carr's first visit to Bodie, and he expresses himself as highly pleased with the looks of our mines, and the prospects of the camp generally. He will probably remain here a week longer, and take in the Mono district.

SUPERIOR COURT.

WIGGIN, Judge.

Tuesday, June 15, 1880.

Ephram vs. Shevr—judgment for plaintiff.

Angustine vs. Opie—judgment for plaintiff.

Wilford vs. Plaff—appeal dismissed.

Goodson vs. Farhust—judgment for plaintiff.

AND AGAIN!—And again the Standard has the check to claim the credit of carrying Mono county for the Republicans last year. That is decidedly cool, when it is well known here that it and its friends tried to compromise with the Democrats by giving them the State Senator, while the Republicans would be satisfied with the Assemblyman. Had it not been for the CHRONICLE and its friends such a proposition would have been submitted to the Democracy, who would have been only too glad to have entered into such an arrangement, but the attempted "sell out" was frustrated and we now have a Republican Senator to vote for a Republican United States Senator next Winter. The fact is, the Standard was very lukewarm in its support of the Republican ticket last year.

FOURTH OF JULY.—A number of citizens met at Miners' Union Hall last evening to make arrangements for a proper observance of the coming Fourth. The meeting was called to order by Col. B. B. Jackson, who stated the object of the meeting, Mr. McDevitt, Vice President of the Miners' Union, was elected President, and "Deacon" Parkinson, Secretary. A Committee of twenty-five was appointed to take the matter in hand and carry forward a celebration worthy of the Day and our city.

ANOTHER RAID.—The Dick Turpins of the Aurora Road stopped the Bodie-bound stage from Carson again on Monday last, and took Wells, Fargo & Co's treasure boxes, but how much booty they obtained, the express folks and themselves only know. They did not molest the passengers. The robbing occurred at the same place where the previous one was committed, and the parties engaged in it were probably the same men.

BE ON TIME.—Under the present popular Constitution of this State no naturalized citizen can vote at the next election unless his naturalization papers are issued on or before the 3d day of August next, and no man can vote unless he has been a resident of this State one year before election, and ninety days in the county, and thirty days in the precinct.

THEIR SCOUTS.—Wells, Fargo & Co. it is said, have a number of detectives and Piute scouts out after the stage robbers. As that company sometime ago imported some bloodhounds to this coast, to be used in hunting down such characters, why do they not give the gentle creatures a trial on the trail of the Dalzel robbers?

JOLLY BROTHERS.—The Jolly Brothers will meet at the Carsonian to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CITY ITEMS.

[From Bridgeport Union].

NEW PUMP.—D. Hays & Brother, of this town, have been appointed Sole Agents, for California and Nevada, for the sale of the "Forrester's Submerged Pump." This is a new candidate for public favor. It is a force and lift pump; faultless in its construction and operation; has no valves; is non-freezing; self-discharging, and easily worked. The demand exceeds the supply, but a large consignment will be here within a few days.

DEDICATION.—On next Sunday week a Methodist E. Church edifice will be dedicated at Mason Valley, Rev. Mr. Wilkes, of Carson, will preach the dedication sermon, and Rev. Mr. Hinkle will perform the rest of the services, assisted by its parson, Rev. Mr. Lad.

SONORA ROAD.—The Sonora road is being placed in good condition; bridges are being repaired, rocks removed, etc. On Thursday last Mr. Cluggage left here to inspect the Antelope and Sonora roads. Within a short time his stages will commence running on both routes.

COURT.—On the 12th inst Superior Judge Wiggin and Auditor Miller counted the moneys in the County Treasury, and found that there ought to be, and was the sum of $22,477 52.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.—J. A. Owen has been appointed Justice of the Peace for Homer Township—an appointment fit to be made. He was formerly Justice of Hollister.

DEPUTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY.—District Attorney Parker has appointed J. L. Greeley, Deputy District Attorney, to reside in Bodie. This is a good appointment.

CHANGE OF VENUE.—On Thursday, Hammond, Hurly and Post, implicated in the homicide of Dazell, at Mill Creek, were brought to Bridgeport for examination.

CANCELLED.—The Board of Supervisors, according to law, has cancelled the old Great Register and all will have to be again registered.

TROUT.—On Sunday last, S. Fales, of the Hot Springs Hotel, caught a 17-pound trout, and at Coleville, last week, a 20-pounder was caught.

EXAMINATION.—On Monday week next, 28th inst. attorneys, who have not Supreme Court certificates, will be examined in the Superior Court.

RICKEY'S STATION.—At this place large quantities of butter are being made, which rapidly sells for forty cents per pound. It is gilt edge.

HOT SPRINGS HOTEL.—On Monday last we visited this pleasant resort, and found a large company enjoying themselves. We cannot too highly commend it to the public.

DEPUTY.—John Roberts, of Bodie, has been appointed Deputy Sheriff, vice J. A. Grant, resigned.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.—The Methodist E. Conference for the next quarter will be held at Antelope.

ANTELOPE ROAD.—Travel on this road is largely on the increase.

CONSTABLE.—C. M. Knox has been appointed Constable for Homer Township.

New Suits.

The following new suits have been commenced in the Superior Court:

Carlan, McCarthy & Co. vs. Boucher & Blouff; T. P. Ryan.

A. N. Morgan, vs. Harvey Boone, J. W. Wright, Pascal Oros, J. H. Page, Geo. H. Wheaton and N. C. Luhrs; Love & Whitehill.

F. Mandlebaum vs. James McVarish; Kittrell & Owen and Huffaker.

G. L. Porter, J. A. Middlemiss and James Stewart vs. M. L. Wylei; Kittrell & Owen, and Huffaker.

Jupiter M. Co. vs. Bodie Con. M. Co.; Garber & Thornton, and R. M. Clarke and Bennett.

E. Berliner vs. his creditors.

Wm. J. C. Gill vs James Cahaley and J. M. Horton; Bennett.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS.—An advertisement under "New To-Day," is worthy of more than a passing notice. It is the copartnership notice in which a white man and a Chinaman are partners. The former makes his mark and the latter signs his name. The document is the production of Sam Chung's brain, and for minute and binding language is worthy of the best of lawyers.

NEW DRY GOODS.—We invite attention to the advertisement of Leon Aronsou, who has just received a large and splendid assortment of dry goods, gents' furnishing goods, carpets, etc., usually found in a well kept dry goods store and which he will sell at living rates. Give him a call.

"A TRAMP ABROAD."—S. C. Foster, agent for Mark Twain's new Book, "A Tramp Abroad," is in Bodie soliciting subscriptions to Twain's latest literary production. It is well gotten up and is sold by subscription only at $4 25, $3 50 and $4 75—according to the style of binding.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made with the Carson Valley ranchers for the new railroad right-of-way.

An excursion party of 150 persons is to leave Chicago on the 1st of July next for San Francisco.

MARRIAGES

BATTIN—SUMMERS.—In Bodie, June 16, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. G. B. Hinkle, Harry E. Battin to Miss Rosa B., daughter of Dr. George M. Summers, all of this city.

THE CHRONICLE.

THE WINDMILL.

Behold, a giant am I!
Aloft here in my tower
With my granite jaws I devour
The maize, the wheat and the rye,
And grind them into flour.

I look down over the farms:
In the fields of grain I see
The harvest that is to be,
And I fling aloft my arms,
For I know it is all for me.

I hear the sound of flails
Far off from the threshing floors
In barns with their open doors,
And the wind, the wind in my sails
Louder and louder roars.

I stand here in my place,
With my foot on the rock below,
And whichever way it may blow,
I meet it face to face,
As a brave man meets his foe.

And while we wrestle and strive,
My master, the miller, stands
And feeds me with his hands,
For he knows who makes him thrive,
Who makes him lord of lands.

On Sundays I take my rest;
Church-going bells begin
Their low, melodious din;
I cross my arms on my breast,
And all is peace within.

Colored Justice.

[From the Little Rock Gazette.]

Several days ago a white man was arraigned before a colored justice, down the country, on charge of killing a man and stealing a mule.

"Wall," said the justice, "de facts in dis case shall be weighed with carefulness, an' if I hangs yer, taint no fault ob mine."

"Judge you have no jurisdiction, only to examine me."

"Dat sorter work 'longs ter de regular justice, but yer see I'se been put on as a special. A special hez de right ter make a mouf at Supreme Court ef he chuses to."

"Do the best for me you can, Judge."

"Dat's what I'se gwine ter do. I'se got two kinds ob law in dis court; de Arkansaw an' de Texas law. I generally gins a man de right to choose fur hisse'f. "Now, what law does yer want, de Texas or de Arkansaw?"

"I believe I'll take the Arkansas."

"Wall den, I'll dismiss yer fur stealin' de mule——"

"Thank you, Judge."

"And hang yer fer killin' de man——"

"I believe, Judge, I'll take the Texas."

"Wall, den, I'll dismiss yer fur killin' de man——"

"You have a good heart, Judge."

"An' hang yer fur stealing de mule. I'll jis take de 'casion heah ter remark dat de only difference 'tween de two laws iz de way yer state de case.

THE FORCE OF AN INDIAN ARROW.—The Indian bows are made of extremely rigid wood, but the power to bend them effectually comes more from practice than mere physical strength. Gen. Brisbin says: I have seen a slight and small white man bend with ease the strongest bow when he had once acquired the art. A white man, too, can send an arror as far and as deep as an Indian. I once had an officer named Belden with me, who had lived twelve years with the Indians, and he could shoot an arrow into a buffalo while running so that the point would come out on the opposite side. He would also plunge an arrow in a beast so that it disappeared, and not even the notch remained visible. The power of an Indian bow can be better understood when it is known that the most powerful revolver will not send a ball through a buffalo. Belden said he had seen a bow throw an arrow five hundred yards, and I, myself, have seen one discharged entirely through a board an inch thick. A man's skull was found in the West transfixed to a tree by an arrow, which had gone entirely through the bones; and fastened itself so deep in the wood as to sustain the weight of the head. The man most likely had been tied up to the tree, and then shot.

DESTRUCTIVE INFLUENCES.—Doubtless countless myriads of living creatures come into existence, of which by far the greater part must be destroyed. One aphis may be the parent of 5,904,900,000 individuals in five generations, and when these are swallowed up by lady-birds and other enemies, in mass, it is no minute individual variation that can avert their fate. The unchecked produce of one pair of herrings would stock the Atlantic in a few years, until there was no room to move; and when these are engulphed, by shoals, as a mouthful for Balænoptera, they can make as little struggle for their existence as the grass can make that the ox licks up, or the vegetation of a district that is devastated by locusts. It is the unwritten law of Nature that one race must die that another may live; this other, in its turn, subserving the same end, and so, constantly, until the cycle be complete. Without this law, against which there is no appeal, nature would be a chaotic impossibility. The destructive influences are so predominant that the carnage is indiscriminate and without struggle.—The Contemporary Review.

"How do you pronounce s-t-i-n-g-y?" Professor Stearns asked the young gentleman nearest the foot of the class. And the smart boy stood up and said it depended a great deal whether the word applied to a man or flee. Go to the head, young fellow.

A man told his friend that he had joined the army. "What regiment?" his friend asked. "Oh, I don't mean that; I mean the army of the Lord." "Ah, what church?" "The Baptists." "Why," was the reply, "that's not the army; it's the navy."

A leap from a hedge is better than a hundred petitions.

The Great Bend, Kansas, Register has adopted the Tribune's rules of spelling, and adds those recommended by the American Fiological Association. It drops ph and substitutes f in all cases.

The Kansas State Board of Education and many papers both within and without the State, have adopted the spelling program, so that this word at least is getting to be pretty well authorized. So also is the word catalog.

The Leavenworth Times spells depo, program, catalog, and definit.

The Neosho county, Kansas, Pioneer, edited by Frank Sheld, drops requandan letters, Anthony Journal, one of the best edited papes in Southern Kansas, has adopted the brief method of spelling. Its editor, the Hon. Charles C. Greene, is a man of markt ability and a fluent speaker.

Francis A. March, L. L. D., Professor of English Language and Comparatly Fiology at Lafayette College, says in regard to f for ph;

The changes in spelling, omission of silent letters, and the substitution of f for ph ar wisely made. F is the proper equivalent in the Roman alfabet of the Greek n. The use of ph came into Latin in the post-Augustanperiod thru an effection of Greeklings at Rome imitating the athenian pronunciation. The fashion past away, and the MSS. of the later Emperors use f, as do also the Italian and Spanish peple, the direct inheritors of Latin.
